VAULT

Vision | Alignment | Utilisation | Leadership | Traction

VAULT is ShrineLDN's highest-level strategic leadership system. Built for founders, directors, and operators who need precision, structure, and total clarity across every level of their business.

When your business starts growing fast or the complexity steps up, everything changes. Decisions come thick and fast. Time gets squeezed. Pressure increases. And the cost of inaction grows by the day.

This is where VAULT steps in. It gives you the rhythm, structure, and strategy to lead properly. Not just manage. Not just keep up. But to lead with presence, power, and pace.

You build out a leadership operating system that brings focus to your calendar, control to your team, and direction to your decisions. Meetings become tighter. Communication becomes sharper. The entire business starts running leaner and stronger because the person at the centre of it is no longer stuck reacting.

This is not coaching. This is direct implementation with someone who has delivered under pressure in environments where clarity was the difference between winning and losing. You will get the pressure, the planning, and the precision to raise your game and your results.

If you are building something real and you want to lead it without drag or doubt, this is the system that gives you the edge.

Inspired by Glenn Dobson's extraordinary journey

VAULT exists because leadership without structure eventually stalls. Most people do not need more ideas. They need a system that works under pressure, holds under scale, and sharpens how they lead day to day.

This is where Glenn Dobson comes in. Three decades of building, coaching, and leading across the military, business, and monkhood created one clear outcome. The way you lead determines the results you get. And if your system is off, everything drags behind it.

Glenn has trained elite teams in the military. He has scaled and sold a multi seven-figure business. He has rebuilt from the ground up after burnout and delivered strategic growth for brands across law, property, tech, retail, and performance. He does not teach theory, he installs clarity, structure, and command into the way you operate so growth becomes the by-product of how you lead.

VAULT was built from that level of pressure and experience. Every session is structured. Every outcome is tracked. You work directly with Glenn from start to finish. No juniors. No worksheets. No layers between you and what needs to be done.

This is the sharpest version of leadership advisory available. It is performance, delivered by someone who has lived every phase of it.

What's included...

"One day. Once a month. Total clarity delivered in person"

VAULT is delivered over four months. You get a complete strategic build across Vision, Alignment, Utilisation, Leadership, and Traction. This is structure that holds under pressure. This is execution that drives performance.

Everything is delivered in person. Every session is mapped to what your business needs at each stage. This is not theory or guidance from a distance. You build the system side by side with someone who has operated under real pressure and delivered across growth, leadership, and scale.

The Format

- One 90-minute onboarding strategy call to map out priorities, timelines, and outcomes.
- One full-day in-person session per month for four months.
- Sessions delivered at your home, office, or chosen location.
- A 120-day execution blueprint customised to your business, leadership demands, and growth strategy.
- Optional Zoom reviews between sessions to maintain momentum and clarity.
- Direct WhatsApp access throughout for fast adjustments and strategic support.
- Strategic bolt-ons available through ShrineLDN including PR, outbound, brand, and operations.

You work directly with Glenn Dobson. Each session brings fresh clarity. Each month builds on the last. By the end of the four months, you are operating with a system that matches the level you play at.

Who VAULT is for

"You don't change who you are. You strengthen how you operate."

VAULT is built for high-performing founders, directors, and operators who are already in the game and ready to lead at a higher level.

You're running something real. You make decisions that carry weight. You are responsible for people, outcomes, and standards. But the way you work no longer feels aligned with what your role demands. The pace is up, but the structure is thin. The goals are big, but the day-to-day is messy.

That's where VAULT fits. This is the system that brings clarity back to your time, your leadership, and your strategy. You sharpen how you lead, how you plan, how you meet, and how you decide. You don't change who you are. You strengthen how you operate.

This programme is used by:

- Founders scaling quickly who want full control of team, time, and direction.
- Senior leaders responsible for high-pressure delivery windows or major growth.
- Directors preparing for expansion, investment, or exit.
- Consultants shifting from personal delivery to business leadership.
- Entrepreneurs returning to structure after burnout or overextension.

If you are already performing but want to raise the bar with a system that supports serious scale, VAULT is the right next move. You're not here to maintain. You're here to build properly.

Real Results

Don't just take our word for it.

"I feel like a leader, not just a founder."

"CORE gave me back control of myself. VAULT is doing the same for my business. I was constantly reacting and building from instinct. Now there's structure around every part of how we operate. Planning. Meetings. Strategy. It's all tightened up."

JAMES HARKNESS — FOUNDER, HARKNESS & CO

"Glenn and his team saved us for sure"

"We were at half a million and pushing hard. I could see the next level, but the cracks were starting to show. Staff issues. Planning delays. Cashflow issues. No clean system for delivery. VAULT brought the structure to scale. Glenn helped us rebuild how we plan quarters, manage people, and lead with pace."

MAYA TURNER — DIRECTOR, STUDIO MT

"That's why I came back."

"We used VAULT last year to get our internal structure right. This time, it's about being bulletproof for a PE exit. We're installing clean reporting, performance systems, and alignment across the whole group. There's trust in every part of this process."

OLIVER CRANE — MANAGING DIRECTOR, CRANE & PARTNERS

Next Steps

"This is the system that supports your next level. Properly."

If you're leading a business that's scaling fast, navigating complexity, or preparing for a serious growth move, then VAULT is your next strategic decision.

This is not a productivity hack. This is a system designed to support high-stakes leadership, where pressure is real and performance matters. You already know how to push. VAULT gives you the rhythm, structure, and execution layer to lead properly without compromise.

You'll walk out of this programme with clean systems, sharper decisions, and a strategy you trust every time the pace picks up. You'll lead the way your business deserves to be led.

Each engagement is delivered personally by Glenn Dobson and supported by his team. Availability is limited and reviewed monthly. Every client is taken on by application only to ensure the structure fits the ambition.

If you're ready to step into leadership with more clarity, more command, and more control, VAULT is ready to build it with you.
